SIDMOUTH

EDA's bid to suspend district council HO move is quashed

EAST Devon District Council will press ahead with the sale of its headquarters in Sidmouth, after a bid to stall the controversial relocation project was dramatically shut down.

A last-ditch attempt by opposition councillors to suspend the sale of Knowle failed to win members' support at a crucial meeting last week, following a series of angry exchanges.

Arguments were heard for and against delaying the project but councillors voted overwhelmingly to continue as planned with the move.

Councillors from the independent East Devon Alliance group - the main opposition to the Conservatives at EDDC – called for the sale of Knowle to be put on hold for six months so further consideration could be given to the move.

But the proposal was later voted down, clearing the path for the project to continue as planned. EDDC is now poised to switch to new offices in Honiton and Exmouth, with work scheduled to begin next August.

From the editor's chair Money is God in 'beautiful game'

I soon came to realised that football stopped being "a beautiful game" many years ago. Money was - and is - the God and the least important people in the game are the supporters.

No one connected with the game at grass roots level were a bit surprised when FIFA imploded with the news that several top officials had been arrested by the FBI after a wide-ranging investigation into corruption at the very top.

The sums involved are obscene – but much

Heights plans

Whilst headlines about the obnoxious head of FIFA Sepp Blater were breaking all over the world, down at the new Chard Road football ground in Axminster chairman Ray Self and his team were putting the finishing touches to their new ground in readiness for next season.

This is where the true game is at its best. In Crewkerne, they've worked their socks off for new facilities in recent times and in Ilminster the same it about to happen.

Football lives in its truest fashion at local level where securing funding of relatively small sums to allow young people to play in a secure and en-joyable environment is often an exercise akin to hari-kari.

Axminster got their ground by doing an astute bit of business with a property developer, although it was a lot more complicated and stressful than anticipated. A fraction of the bungs and bribes dished out to and by the so-called leaders of our game could make such a difference.

But who wants their tainted millions?

other six weeks. A decision will now be made at the CCG's next governing body meeting on Thursday, July 16th.

Councillor Claire Wright, one of Ottery's representatives on the stakeholder group, urged members of the public to attend the meeting.

She said: "It is vital that there is a big public attendance at this meeting. It is essential that the light of public scrutiny remains on this issue."

District defers funding decision on superfast broadband roll-out

SOUTH Somerset District Council (SSDC) has deferred a decision on whether or not it should spend £640,000 on a superfast broadband pro-

Councillors on the District Executive requested more information on the scheme when they met on June 4th, and a special meeting of the committee will be called to make a final decision.

The District Executive met to review the inprinciple commitment, made in June last year, to commit £640,000 to the Connecting Devon and Somerset (CDS) Superfast (broadband) Extension Programme (SEP). The programme takes advantage of various UK and European funding streams, and involves a number of organisations and agencies, including the government-funded Broadband Delivery UK (BDUK).

But potential problems have now materialised with councillors expressing concerns over broadband connections for local businesses.

A SSDC spokesperson said: "The decision was deferred until more information is available to members. "We expect this information to be available in the coming weeks."

Flood threat to new homes? Town Council's plan-

MORE than 140 new homes planned for the edge of Honiton could be blighted by flooding and damp problems. town councillors have warned.

Developers have submitted new plans for a large housing estate off Sidmouth Road - only a year after planning chiefs threw out their previous proposals.

Outraged residents have already moved to criticise the application, which sets out plans for 141 homes to be built on land at Heathfield, to the east of Hayne Lane.

And town councillors have also expressed "serious concerns'' that new residents could be at risk of flooding and dampness in their homes if the plans are approved. Members of Honiton imously opposed the plans last week but district councillors will have the final say. A decision is expected on August 12th.

Final decision on hospital's beds to be taken next month

tient hospital beds at Axminster will not be taken until

It was initially thought that a decision would be made in late May or a week later in early June.

NEW CCG's Eastern Locality Board met on May 27th, and a spokesperson for NEW Devon CCG said: "Due to the importance of the decision and strength of public opinion, the CCG wishes to ensure comprehensive information is available, including the views of the clinicians present on the Eastern locality board, so that the Governing Body is fully informed before making a decision.

"The decision will therefore be referred to the Governing Body meeting in July." Steve Holt – a member of Axminster Hospital Action Group, Axminster Hospital League of Friends and Wakley Stakeholder Group (set up by NEW Devon CCG) – attended the meeting on May 27th.

He said: "We see this as a positive move from the CCG as to take the recommendations to June's meeting would have been premature.

Praise for River Cottage

■ RIVER Cottage has been praised for demonstrating an ongoing commitment to improving the skills of its workforce through vocational qualifications to help plug the industry's skills gap.

This comes after it was named this year's VQ SME Employer of the Year.

Harry Wild from River Cottage's Chef School said: "Our apprenticeship schemes encourage hospitality businesses to grow their own talent, so we can ensure the highest quality pipeline of chefs into the hospitality industry.'

River Cottage works closely with Exeter and Devon's Employment and Skills Board and the business is hoping to create a 'world class workforce' in the region.

The overall VQ Employer of the Year winner will be announced at the VQ Awards ceremony on Tuesday, June 9th by garden designer and television personality Diarmuid Gavin.

David Harbourne, acting CEO of the Edge Foundation - an independent education foundation, dedicated to raising the status of practical, technical and vocational learning - believes River Cottage sends a strong message about the value of vocational skills: "At every level of business, River Cottage recognises the enormous value of investing in staff development - particularly to enhance their technical, practical and vocational skills."

The Edge foundation will lead the celebrations for VQ Day on Wednesday, June 10th, which celebrates the benefits of technical, practical and vocational learning.

All ages enjoy orchestra performance

Pollution threat to river says the River Axe was at risk of pollution and Weycroft of flooding when two drains were left blocked after an oil spillage.

Allan Howlings, of Weycroft B&B in Axminster, says he had to 'pester' the Environment Agency (EA) and Devon County Council (DCC) for three days before action was taken.

There was an oil spillage on the road (A358) outside Mr Howlings's home at around 12noon on Sunday, May 17th.

The cause is unknown but Mr Howlings suspects a broken down tractor, which he saw being pulled by another tractor DCC's Highways Department responded quickly and soaked up the oil with granules.

So far so good, but some of the oil-soaked granules ended up in the road drains, which eventually blocked and posed a risk of flooding, according to Mr Howlings

by Anders Larsson anders@tindlenews.co.uk

Mr Howlings (a former water bailiff in Milton Keynes) says he contacted DCC Highways and EA on a daily basis until the following Wednesday, claiming it felt like he was being passed back and forth as Highways said it was an EA issue, and the EA saying it was a Highways issue.

He told Pulman's View: "If we had had rain it would have sent it all into the river, but I didn't get anywhere - I could have screamed.

Instead of ending up in the river, the oil-soaked granules solidified and blocked the drains putting the area at risk of flooding according to Mr Howlings.

Weycroft is a notorious flooding blackspot and Mr Howling's house was 'washed out' during the summer flood in 2012.

A DCC spokesperson didn't agree, though, and told Pulman's View: "Our highways team responded to the incident on the Sunday but there was no risk of pollution and no risk of flooding.

"The granules which were used to absorb the spillage were removed on the Wednesday, when suitable traffic management could be arranged.

"The gully was also cleared and it was confirmed that there was no pollution on site."

Seaton's PC Speariett all set for new career

THE countdown is underway for PC Steve Speariett, who will retire from the police after almost 30 years and take up a career as a mortgage advi-

His last day on the Seaton beat is Wednesday, June 17th, and he has looked back on a career that entailed everything from being petrolbombed, breaking a leg during a chase to meeting his wife-to-be whilst on duty.

Starting working life as a penpushing civil servant, the Bristolian got bored after 18 months and decided to apply to the police.

He had never seriously considered a police career, but made a spur-ofthe-moment decision when seeing a recruitment advert in a paper.

One thing led to another and the fresh-faced rookie PC's first posting was to Filton Police Station, Bristol, in 1987.

His first arrest was an easy one as it involved someone wanted on warrant and already in custody.

The second arrest was a bit more challenging as it involved a fake charity collector conning people into donating money.

On another occasion PC Speariett was at the scene of a fatal stabbing in Bristol when a man came up to him and confessed to the killing, which prompted an immediate ar-

There was plenty of action in Bristol, including riot duty during which Steve and his colleagues had petrol bombs thrown at them.

He once broke a leg when chasing a suspect and has also been dragged along by stolen cars.

During his time on the Bristol beat he also met the woman who would become his wife, Lisa.

The PC was despatched to investigate someone who had shot a pellet through a shop window in 1989. The shop was managed by Lisa, and PC Speariett decided to ask her out after having concluded his investigation.

She accepted and the rest is, as they say, history.

His move to Devon and Cornwall Police came in June 2003.

After a year as a response officer, he became neighbourhood beat manager for Seaton.

The Seaton beat didn't have the riots and other problems associated with a big city, but managed to attract the international spotlight when cargo ship MSC Napoli came unstuck off Branscombe in 2007.

Whilst not a crime in itself, the incident provided police with plenty of challenges, including looters.

PC Speariett is leaving the police 18 months before having clocked up 30 years and the magic pension threshold.

He explained why by saying: "I'm very lucky that, from a pension point of view, I can carry over 18 months from the civil service."

PC Speariett has prepared for the move for some time, having studied to become a qualified, independent mortgage advisor.

A friend of his is running a company expanding into Devon, which has provided an instant job opportunity for the soon-to-be former police officer.

When asked if he would become a police officer again could his career be rewound, he said: "Now, probably not. Was it the right decision then? Yes, it was."

During a recent town council meeting he did express an element of concern for policing in the area. and in May's police report, he said: 'There are difficult times ahead with further cuts to the police budget.

"This will put extra demand on the officers remaining and I ask you all to be mindful of this.

"Every officer based at Seaton is committed to providing the best service possible with diminishing resources, staff and budgets.'

PC Speariett summed up his time in Seaton by saying: "I have met many characters over the last 12 years, many who are genuinely committed to making the community a better place for all, like the commu nity speed watch teams, parish councils, community groups - thank you.

"I have been privileged to have been involved with the local schools and it makes you realise how quickly time passes when you see children that you were teaching road safety now drinking in the local

"There are far too many people / groups to thank individually but I am grateful to you all. "I would however like to thank my wife Lisa and my boys Sam, Joe and Tom for putting up with me, it cannot have been easy - you all deserve a medal."

"I wish you all well in the future and look forward to meeting many of you out of uniform."

The shop is located in the former phone box that has been relocated outside the Mariners' Hall having sat on Barline for many

"The swap shop is now open and we will see how it gets used," said Martin Richards, chairman of Beer Parish Council.

"Apparently it worked very well when it had the same function on Barline so hopefully it will be the same down here in Fore Street."

The parish council was instrumental in moving the phone box into the village and also installing a free WiFi service for local residents and visitors alike.

Can you see to drive?

National Glaucoma Awareness Week, 8-14 June 2015

This year's National Glaucoma Awareness Week will take place on the 8 - 14 June 2015. The focus will be on driving and encouraging people to have regular eye health checks to ensure that they are safe to drive. It is only with regular eye health checks through a local optometrist (optician), that people will know if their driving vision is affected. This is particularly important with glaucoma, as it has no symptoms in the early stages. But, with early detection and continued treatment people will often retain useful sight for life and be safe to drive for many years.

Driving and our ability and safety to do so, is something that many people take for granted. Yet, how many people have a regular eye health check to ensure that their vision is accurate? Even if a person can see a number plate at 20 metres, how many have been tested for glaucoma which affects vision?

There is an estimated 600,000 people with glaucoma in the UK, but 300,000 are undiagnosed. As there are no early symptoms it is vital that people over the age of 40 have regular eye health checks every one or two years. Advanced glaucoma leads to serious loss of sight.

Comments Russell Young, CEO of the International Glaucoma Association "the majority of us wouldn't take our cars on the road without an annual service and MOT yet, we are happy to put ourselves behind the wheel without knowing if we can see safely to drive. A visit to the optometrist will quickly check our safety and detect if there is any risk of glaucoma. Glaucoma is a complex condition, in that the brain fills in what the eyes cannot see. Many people will insist their vision is perfectly normal even when there is significant loss of vision".

"Around 10 per cent of the calls we receive to our helpline are from people worried about whether their glaucoma is going to affect their ability to drive. Yet the majority of those that report to the DVLA will not need further tests, and of those that do most will be found safe to drive", Young continues.

Glaucoma causes misty, patchy or blurred vision in places. It can cause people to miss the unexpected such as a person crossing the road, a cyclist passing, or a vehicle merging into traffic. The only way to know for sure about your vision and your safety on the roads is to have regular eye health checks every one to two years, particularly if you are over the age of 40.

"It is important people know if they do have glaucoma that has caused damage to vision in both eyes, they are required by law to report their condition to the DVLA. If they fail to do so they can face a criminal conviction, a fine up to £1000 and may be uninsured to drive. The good news about glaucoma is with ongoing treatment people can protect their vision and most people will retain useful sight for life", Young concludes.

Further information about glaucoma and driving can be found on the IGA website, www.glaucoma-association.com or via the Sightline (helpline) on 01233 64 81 70.

Beach hut tenants launch campaign against auction system

A CAMPAIGN group has been formed to fight a proposed East Devon District Council (EDDC) beach hut auction.

Beach huts are currently hired by individuals on a rolling contract, which means tenants automatically get to rent them every year until they no longer wish to do so. But EDDC officials would like to rip up the arrangement and instead auction five-year leases on the open market.

A spokesperson said: "We manage and maintain 237 beach huts, 20 beach chalets and 241 beach hut sites (with no beach hut provided) along the coast of East Devon.

"Well over 300 individuals are on waiting lists for one of the beach huts, beach chalets and beach hut sites (one person can be on a waiting list for multiple locations).

"The waiting lists for most are so long that they are now closed to new applicants. We are looking for ways to enable more people to have a chance to lease a beach hut, chalet or beach hut site.

"If we can collect more from this enterprise than it costs us to provide it, we can also improve our beach hut, chalet and beach hut site service. Any surplus funds would be re-invested in other council services.

"This change is proposed for all the beach huts, beach hut sites and beach chalets we own and manage.

"All existing hire agreements for beach huts, beach hut sites and beach chalets would be terminated. Five-year leases for all of these will go to auction on the open market. Everyone will have the chance to bid, including current hirers.

"The highest bidders will be successful and will be able to rent the beach hut, beach hut site or beach chalet for five years. After this time, another five-year lease for the site will be offered on the open market."

All tenants have been invited to take part in a

by Anders Larsson and Kevin Fahey consultation, and most appear to be strongly against the plan.

Seaton beach hut tenant Marilyn Coates said: "My husband and I have had our hut for six years, currently hired at £480.10 a season, and are very happy with it.

"Quite often we have received the choice of several huts when our turn has come up, which implies that there is a steady turnover in hut availability.

"Very few of the people who have the huts at present are going to be able to continue to have their huts because; they won't be able to afford them; a lot are elderly and won't want to go to a public auction. And it is surely unfair to pay a different price for each site when they are next door or very close.

"The council is doing this as a cost-cutting exercise they say. Well, it is obvious that all this rigmarole is going to cost a lot more money to run.

"The admin cost will be astronomical. It will mean that the huts will not be used on a regular basis as they are now because the owners will live too far away to make daily use, even for a few hours, an option."

Another beach hut tenant, Fiona Pyle, is organising those against the plan. She said: "I have set up a Facebook group called Save East Devon Beach Huts, and we currently have over 300 members. "The aim of the group is to communicate with beach huts tenants, those on the waiting list and anyone else who objects to EDDC's new proposal, not just for Seaton, but in the other East Devon towns affected."

In Beer, many are fearful that the huts will be

Gayle Chapple, who currently has a hut, said: "It is all a bit worrying and perhaps it will be the start of something on the beach. It seems appalling that we could be shunted out. Is it all about market forces?"

Mrs Chapple added that Beer is completely different to Budleigh Salterton, Exmouth and Seaton, and shouldn't be grouped with those locations.

She explained: "Beer is very different because what we have here is just a square of pebbles with a hut on top. It is a community on the beach and everyone knows everyone else.

"It is the talk of the beach at the moment, but let's see how it goes."

Beer Parish Council chairman Martin Richards said he fully expected the matter to be raised at a meeting.

He commented: "I can understand why people are panicking a bit over this, but nothing has been decided. Also, the parish council is looking at taking over the running of the beach and then it will be up to us what we do with it."

The consultation will conclude on July 13th, after which the results will be analysed.

Dalwood council stalwart retires

■ WILF Slee has retired from Dalwood Parish Council after 40 years.

He was the outgoing chairman of the council up until the recent elections, and was formally thanked for his efforts during the annual parish meeting on Wednesday, May 20th.

Mr Slee was presented with a long service award from East Devon District Council in recognition of all his hard work to the community.

The award was presented (pictured) by district councillor lain Chubb (Newbridges Ward).

Membury school celebrates 'Good' rating

STAFF and pupils of Membury Primary School have reason to smile after the school was deemed Good overall by Ofsted.

Inspections are made using a four-level scale (Outstanding, Good, Requires Improvement and Inadequate).

Behaviour of the children was rated as Outstanding with Ofsted stating that "behaviour is exemplary as attitudes to learning have been transformed".

The inspector highlighted that Membury Primary School has made rapid improvements since its last inspection following a partnership with St. Andrew's Primary Academy, Chardstock.

The report said "The inspirational Head promotes a strong sense of ambition that every pupil and member of staff can be successful.

"She has created a culture where good behaviour can flourish and effective teaching is the expectation.

"Staff and pupils have risen to the challenge she sets, and are proud to be part of the school."

The report also praised the rapid progress being made saying "Over the last year pupils' progress has speeded up considerably in all subjects due to the improvements in teaching.

"Teachers have high expectations of what pupils can achieve and develop very effective working relationships." Executive Head Andrea Rice commented: "I am very proud of the very positive report and this is a result of the hard work of the staff and children who have worked tirelessly to make rapid improvements and the commitment of the parents, governors and community to make Membury Primary a great place for children to learn and achieve".

Chairman of governors, Judy Chisholm, said: "Governors are delighted with the report and we look forward to maintaining and building on this progress well into the future as the school converts to academy status and joins the Acorn Multi Academy Trust in September 2015".

Axcess Electric Bikes

Axcess Electric Bikes are Riding High

AXCESS-ELECTRIC-BIKES will show a complete range of their Axcess brand electric bikes which have so successful since their launch in 2012. Their popularity has grown with the size of the electric bike market which in the UK is still 90% smaller than the market in Germany.

The increasing number of cycle tracks plus the ever increasing difficulty with parking is encouraging increased use for both business and pleasure as more and more people want to keep active and enjoy the fresh air. Peter Blackman, Axcess's MD, commented "It is amazing where our electric bikes have been. We get reports that our bikes have been taken to Fuerteventura, Scottish Islands, Europe, and one even went to Australia and back - in a box - not ridden."

New from Germany on show are a range of Raleigh electric bikes powered by Bosch motors mounted between the pedals. Two models both available as crossbar and step-through frames will be on show.

Folding electric bikes remain very popular with those who want to take them out into the countryside and the go for a ride in a rural area or on a cycle track. Look out for the special offer folding bike on the Axcess stand.

IDEALLY you should have a boiler service annually because regular servicing will help prolong the problem-free life of your boiler as well as helping it to run more efficiently, saving you money and using less energy. All of our engineers are highly experienced and can perform a boiler service on all of the main boiler brands. including Worcester, Glow Worm, Potterton, Ideal and more.

We'll check your boiler's controls and components, clean the vital parts to improve efficiency, check for scale damage to the system and examine radiators, vales and pipe work for any corrosion or leaks.

Having your boiler serviced is very important, entailing all the cleaning, checking and faultspotting that's vital in minimizing the chances of anything going wrong with your boiler in the future. Not only this, but a clean, serviced boiler is more efficient, using less gas/oil and therefore saving you money, that's why we promise.

- We will check your gas/oil boiler, controls and components.
- We will clean vital parts, help prevent carbon monoxide incidents and improve Gas/Oil effi-the radiators, valves and exposed pipe work for leaks and corrosion, helping you enjoy many years with a boiler in good, safe working order.

Arada Stoves

Putting warmth at the heart of the home

WE didn't become the UK's No.1 manufacturer of stoves overnight. It's been 30 years since we started warming homes and hearts. But from day one, our stoves have had the authenticity you'd expect from a company rooted in rural Devon.

We believe our reputation is built on every stove we make. Villager, Aarrow and Stratford stoves have all stood the test of time and are now united under the Arada name. Each and every Arada stove starts life in the hands of our craftsmen in our purpose built factory on the Millwey Industrial Estate.

Our focus remains entirely on British values, maintaining a strong united workforce and ensuring our ethos remains invested.

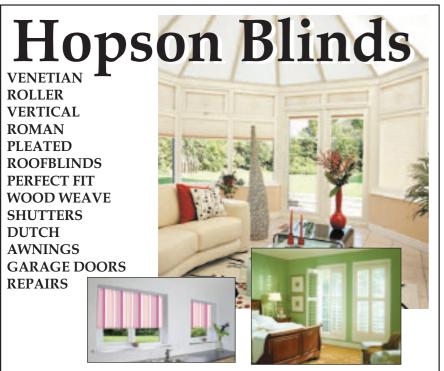

our focus remains entirely on British values, maintaining a strong united workforce and ensuring our ethos remains invested in UK manufacturing, as well as our local community.

With an extensive stove portfolio, our state of the art factory and machinery allows us to manufacture our range of stoves on site from start to finish. Our stoves start life as raw steel and are hand finished to perfection- from cutting and welding to spraying and packing by our highly-skilled and well-trained workforce. Our team ensure our stoves bear all the hallmarks of being designed and built in Britain by people who take pride in a job well done.

With our large scale production comes our investment, with as many of our raw materials as possible being sourced from the UK. Furthermore, we strive to create relationships with other local companies, with many of them just on our doorstep. Through this, and our willingness to get involved in the local community, our role as manufacturers in Axminster, Devon allows us to give back to the place that we call home.

Tenth Umborne Ugg raises close to £1,200 for village hall

A VILLAGE came to life when invaded by a hundred runners or so for the tenth Umborne Ugg.

Walkers and dogs also arrived to make it a real community event. Umborne Ugg is staged to raise funds for the village hall, and this year's event on Saturday, May 30th, raised almost £1,200.

One of those who helped organise it, Rick Wood, said: "The sum of £1,194 was raised, which is very pleasing."

The main race is a 10-kilometre multi-terrain race, which this year attracted a record 91 entrants – including two Czech holiday makers. James Denne marked the occasion by winning the race and setting a course record of 39.01.

by Anders Larsson anders@tindlenews.co.uk

There was also a shorter run plus a 7k walk featuring several dogs.

When the races and the walk were completed, and trophies presented, a barbecue was held.

Mr Wood said: "Events like this cannot happen without the superb support of so many people including local landowners for allowing us to pass over their land, the 20 marshals and water station helpers, timers, back markers and Garry Perratt for yet again doing all the results.

"So thank you to all those people who helped with this, what a massive team effort."

Honiton U3A heads to Zimbabwe

AT the May meeting of the Honiton U3A, members and visitors were taken on a journey to Zimbabwe to walk with lions!

In 2011 the guest speaker, Joyce West, flew from Heathrow to Johannesburg and then travelled by truck to The Antelope Park near Gweru, a centre for the rehabilitation of lions where she would spend the next two weeks as a volunteer.

Joyce explained that at one time there were hundreds of thousand of lions in Africa but today the figure is about 93,000. All the lions at the centre had been brought in as orphaned cubs and here they would learn, with the help of the staff and volunteers, to adapt to their environment, to hunt, stalk and chase etc until they were ready to join a pride in the outer reaches of the park where they would hopefully breed.

Mornings began at 6am when everyone was woken by lions roaring in a nearby enclosure, and then at 8am the sound of bongo drums heralded breakfast after which volunteers would meet to find out their jobs for the day. These included feeding lions, data collection, cub sitting (a favourite), mucking out the enclosures, mending fences and night encounters. Many of these tasks were far from pleasant and involved handling both lion and elephant dung, raw and stinking meat and blood - all of which attracted hundreds of flies. But of course the best job of all was walking the lions. Only three lions were walked at a time and this required one keeper and five volunteers. Everyone was constantly reminded that these were wild animals and to always remain vigilant. Each person carried a hefty stick but these were never used on the lions – if anyone felt threatened they were told to stand tall and raise the stick above their head to make themselves look larger and more intimidating! Joyce brought her own stick to the meeting to show her audience – this had been carved especially for her by a local.

Zimbabwe is a poor country, and as part of the volunteers' project, they were invited to visit a local centre for orphaned children who were the victims of HIV, and to bring gifts. Popular items were pencils and writing equipment, but Joyce, being a keen tennis player brought tennis balls! These were a rare item and produced a lot of fun for both children and adults alike.

At the end of her talk Joyce played a short video of her stay in Zimbabwe which brought to life all that she had spoken about.

The two weeks were certainly no holiday, but it was obvious from Joyce's animated and enthusiastic talk that her time in Zimbabwe had been a brilliant and fulfilling experience.

The Honiton U3A Chairman, Susanne Jones, then thanked Joyce for what had been a very interesting and enlightening talk.

BEER

THE Beer WI enjoyed a visit from Michael Pritchard, owner of Pecorama, to talk about the business from its small beginnings during the Second World War in Branscombe, via Seaton, to the addition of the venue in Beer that people enjoy visiting today. Several members attended the Spring Council meeting in Torquay, where they were presented with the County Quiz Cup.

The last of the skittles matches was completed in The Social Club league and members were pleased not to finish in "the wooden spoon" position this season!

In the annual meeting Sue Ball was returned unopposed as President for a further year and the present committee were also re-elected except for Val Bates, who is standing down. Members thanked her for her commitment to her position.

Dates were agreed to promote the WI at craft fairs and fundraising events in The Mariners Hall and members made or supplied cakes to help with refreshments for The Beer Blazer.

Knowle not the 'main issue' for EDA

THE Press Release by East Devon District Council about the proposed relocation from the Knowle to Sidmouth – Cross party majority squashes Independent Group councillors proposal to delay council relocation – confirms a number of things. Not least that EDDC's Press Office appears not to know the difference between 'squash' and 'quash' and when to use an apostrophe.

Given the Council's previous failures to release information on the proposed move, it was only proper that a number of councillors should request a debate on the subject. As Cllr Diviani knows full well, for the East Devon Alliance the Knowle move has never been the "main issue". The main issue for EDA has always been to require that EDDC be open and accountable for its decisions. The triumphalist nature of this most recent press release serves yet again to reinforce the impression that the Council is more interested in self-justification than transparency.

Feniton church exhibition success

MALCOLM REYNOLDS

Press Officer

MAY we take this opportunity to say a great big thankyou to everyone for supporting what has been called 'one of the best exhibitions' in Feniton on Saturday and Sunday, 16th and 17th May.

Thirty-two wedding dresses and a dozen christening gowns were on display with their respective photos and narrative links to Feniton.

The support and generosity of so many people raised the amount of £1,054 which will go toward funds for the repair of the fabric of the church.

We thank everyone who came.

A special thanks must go to the committee and to the pew movers, flower arrangers, stewards, tea ladies, cake makers and helpers and to the history group for their interesting display.

Thank you too to the dress owners who so kindly lent their glamorous and elegant dresses, every one unique, and supported by the beautiful Honiton lace from the Museum.

What a beautiful display.

Seaton councillors

■ THE aims of Seaton councillors, independent or otherwise, must be of course to get the best deal for Seaton, as Martin Shaw remark. (Seaton has always been the poor relation at the EDDC).

I just don't see how they would be able to do this by going into an alliance with councillors, from eg Sidmouth, whose aims would of course be different in this respect (although the promised honesty and transparency will of course be welcome).

Thanks for votes

■ THROUGH your letters page could I please give my thanks to all the residents who voted me onto East Devon District Council at the May 7th elections.

As always I will be available to all residents seven days a week no matter how small the request maybe whether it's with housing, licensing planning or other matters concerning East Devon District Council.

Christian Aid thanks

■ MAY I, through your columns, thank the good people of Honiton and the surrounding villages for their generous support for Christian Aid Week. A total of £3,251.37 was raised and the whole sum has been forwarded to the national organisation.

Locally we rely entirely on volunteers, to maximise the amount that can be spent overseas. In some of the world's poorest places, people will know that Christian Aid means business with its mission statement: "We believe in life before death".

We thank everyone who gave so generously.

East Devon set to benefit from boom in 'staycation' breaks

HOLIDAYMAKERS are set to visit East Devon in their thousands this summer, as the area prepares for an unprecedented tourism boom Industry experts believe local businesses will benefit from a significant increase in so-called 'stay-cationers' over the next few months. Analysts say more and more people are choosing to spend their holidays closer to home, with forecasts of a sizzling summer ahead According to holidayletting agency holidaycottages.

co.uk, a drop in petrol prices is also contributing to the trend, which will see a 16 per cent increase in the number of people booking a self-catering holiday cottage in East Devon.

The boom is expected to reach the area this month. as seaside traders gear up for another busy summer season.

James Morris, managing director at holiday cottages.co.uk, said: "East Devon has so much to offer and we are proud to play a part in promoting it to our holidaymakers from the UK and further afield."

He added: "The upwards trend in bookings can be attributed to a number of factors. With the warmer temperatures we've experienced in the last few years and predictions of the warmest summer yet, we expect more people to flock to East Devon instead of spending their well-earned holiday time queuing at airports.

"Another factor is the decrease in petrol prices." meaning it is now more affordable to travel in your car.'

Car fire extinguished

A CAR caught fire between Lopen and South Petherton in the afternoon of Sunday, May 31st.

The location was given as Watergore, and the alarm was raised just before 4.40pm. The cause of the fire was not given, but a spokesperson for the fire and rescue service said: "We received numerous calls reporting a vehicle on fire between Lopen and South Petherton roundabouts

"A local appliance was mobilised to the incident.

"Once in attendance, crews found the vehicle well alight and got to work using two breathing apparatus, foam and an environmental pack to extinguish the fire.

Volunteers needed to tackle alien weeds

VOLUNTEERS are sought by project leaders for a renewed assault on Himalayan balsam in Axe Valley.

Axe Invasives non-native invasive plant project is funded by Natural England and is in its fourth year.
Project co-ordinator Louise Woolley said: "We will be organising clearance sessions on weekdays and at the weekend and will be picking people up from Seaton, Colyford, Colyton and Axminster as well as organising other pick up stops if people do not have their own transport. 'The project is also clearing Japanese knotweed and giant hogweed from the valley, so if there are sites that people know of can they please let us

'The project is appealing to everyone, whether they are eight or 80, to find some time to tackle the ever increasing problem of the spread of Himalayan Balsam in Axe Valley and surrounding streams in June, July and August 2015.

"The project takes people into the beautiful countryside of the valley where wildlife is still abundant and explores places not usually accessible to the public.

The work is not heavy and requires no tools, just gloves and wellies and is a fun way to maintain fitness and meet new people.

"The days run from 10am to 3.30pm and can also be a fun way for students or those looking for work to get some volunteer experience for their CV whilst knowing that they are making a difference by Anders Larsson anders@tindlenews.co.uk

local environment'

She also explained that the project has achieved an 80 per cent improvement year on year and has nearly eliminated Himalayan balsam from many areas.

But those involved need to ensure that the focus is maintained on clearing the upper reaches and need more manpower upstream to stop the plant recolonising those areas cleared previously.

Louise added: "The most effective way is pulling the plants up by hand which is easily done as they have very shallow roots and is necessary to get to those places that a mechanical cutter can't reach."

The main issues with the colonisation of Himalayan balsam are that it causes:

- Our native plants to be out-competed and therefore decreasing biodiversity, affecting ecosystems by creating an imbalance in wildlife and the habitats they depend on for breeding and food
- An increase in flooding due to siltation and gravel build up caused by bank erosion
- A reduction in suitable fish spawning grounds
- Loss of pasture, hay meadows and agricultural land. For further information email Louise at axeinvasives@outlook.com or call 01395 512536 or 07905 418460 or connect on twitter and facebook

www.viewfromonline.co.uk NATIONAL MICROCHIPPING MONTH Tuesday, June 9th 2015 29

What is microchipping?

The microchip is the size of a grain of rice and the procedure, which is carried out by a vet or takes only a few minutes and lasts a lifetime.

How does a microchip help to reunite a lost pet with their owner?

Once your pet is microchipped, you and your pet's details are stored in a microchip database along with the microchip's unique 15 digit code.

When a missing pet is found, an animal professional (for example a vet or dog warden) will scan the pet revealing the microchip's unique 15 trained microchip implanter, digit code, and contact the microchip database your pet is registered with. The customer care staff will perform some security checks before releasing your contact details to the animal professional - so that your pet can be reunited with you.

Keep Your Details Up To Date

If your pet is already Microchipped please make sure that you keep your contact details up to date, otherwise it may be impossible to reunite you with a missing pet. To check your pet's details are up to date or to change any details, visit www.petlog.org.uk

JUNE is National Microchipping Month; a campaign to encourage responsible ownership through microchipping as a method of permanent pet identification. Almost any species of animal can be microchipped including dogs, cats, rabbits, guinea pigs, ferrets, tortoises and even birds.

Every year in the UK thousands of pets go missing and, according to a report from Dogs Trust, 110,000 stray dogs were handled by local authorities last year.

Vale Veterinary Centre

Microchipping Dogs Law Comes Into Effect In April

VETS implant microchips that are registered on an authorised database (PetLog) so you can rest assured that you will meet the requirements of the new legislation which will make Microchipping of dogs compulsory in England from 6th April 2016. This legislation will require dog

- · Have their dog microchipped and registered
- Keep their contact details up-to-date on the microchip databases.
- Register the details of any new owner before they sell or give the dog away

Microchipping has many benefits, the most important of which is reuniting stray pets with their owners; but it also encourages responsible ownership, helps tackle puppy farming and facilitates reporting of hereditary health problems

Minster Veterinary Surgery

MINSTER Veterinary Surgery is a longestablished, independent and exclusively small animal practice. The partners, Joyce Fleming and Ross O'Brien have been qualified 23 and 19 years respectively.

The up-to-date equipment facilitates non-invasive diagnoses, with wet chemistry blood analysing machines, high-frequency X-rays, Doppler diagnostic ultrasound & blood pressure monitoring equipment. Advanced pulse oximitry & capnography are routinely used during anaesthesia.

Isolation facilities are also available for exotic & infectious cases.

The experienced and qualified nurses perform dental clinics, weight clinics and puppy checks and this is often a good time to discuss any concerns a client may have. These services are free of charge.

There is always one of our veterinary surgeons and one of our veterinary nurses on call at all times so any advice or action needed, night or day, can be given in an emergency.

We believe that we treat every patient as we would like our own to be treated, with tenderness and understanding. We deal with all problems, big and small, and each is as important as the next. Ultimately, we care for your pet almost as much as you

EVALE veterinary group

Keeping our pets cool this summer

- On a hot day, walk your dog in the early morning and late evenings if possible, either take water with you or walk where there is somewhere for the dog to paddle or swim. You can by dog coats specifically for keeping them cool too!
- · Cats notoriously love the heat, but make sure you check sheds and green houses for those sunbathing moggies because they can get locked in by accident.
- Rabbits and guinea pigs need plenty of shade and water, keep them covered when they are out in their run and preferably in the shade with opportunity for a breeze

NEVER leave Dogs in cars, not even for short

Dogs die every summer after being left in cars, even with the windows down. In minutes, the inside of the car can reach oven temperatures. Outside temperatures of 24 degrees centigrade can soon reach in excess of 39 degrees centi-

What to do if you see a dog in a car on a warm/hot day?

Call the police on 999 and the RSPCA on 03001234999. If the car is in a shop car park or at a public event, alert organisers to call owners over the loudspeaker and advise them that the police have been called and are on their way. The overwhelming urge will be to break into the car and release the dog. There is a risk of being charged with criminal damage if you do this, so tell the police/RSPCA what you intend to do and take videos/photos on your phone to show the distress. Take names and phone numbers of any witnesses.

Signs of heatstroke and what to do

- · Heavy panting, profuse salivation, a rapid pulse, very red gums and or tongue, lethargy, lack of co-ordination, reluctance or inability to rise after collapsing, vomiting and diarrhoea.
- Dogs with heatstroke need their body temperature lowering gradually to give them the best chance of survival.
- Immediately douse the dog with cool (never cold) water if possible.
- Move the dog into a shaded cool area and give small amounts of cool water to drink
- Go straight to your nearest veterinary practice and call ahead so that they are expecting you.

CLOKS presents Guys and Dolls

FOLLOWING ON from the success of the last year's production of *Fiddler on the Roo*f, CLOKS, is proud to present Guys and Dolls.

Gambler, Nathan Detroit tries to find the cash to set up the biggest crap game in town while the authorities breathe down his neck; meanwhile his girlfriend, nightclub performer Adelaide, laments that they've been engaged for 14 years. Nathan turns to fellow gambler Sky Masterson for the dough but Sky ends up chasing the straight-laced missionary doll Sarah Brown.

Guys and Dolls Jr. takes us from the heart of Times Square to the cafes of Havanna, Cuba and even into the sewers of New York City but eventually everyone ends up right where they belong.

ESCAPE TO THE MED

LONG range weather forecasts are perhaps best left to the Met Office, but Ilminster Arts Centre is confidently predicting an outbreak of Mediterranean sunshine on Saturday, June 20th, when they host an evening of Mediterranean Meze, Musings & Music.

The event, which is a fundraiser for the Arts Centre, centres around a delicious 3 course dinner, with coffee to follow, and whose menu will range across the vibrant flavours of Mediterranean cuisine. On arrival, guests are greeted by a glass of sangria before they sit down to enjoy their starter, which is a meze.

In between courses guests will be entertained by a variety of Mediterranean inspired acts, including piano, song, dance, and the spoken word. This year's entertainment will also feature flamenco, with Taunton based dancer Aneta Skut performing a Spanish fan and a 'Sevillan' dance.

The whole evening has a relaxed house party atmosphere, with lots of fun and laughter. Bring a party to make up a table, or if you are coming on your own or in a two, the organisers will make up a table for you. It's a lovely way to get together with friends, or make new ones!

The evening will also feature a raffle, with good prizes to be won.

Last year's event was extremely popular so early booking is strongly advised to avoid disappointment. Box office: 01460 54973.

Tickets for the Mediterranean Meze evening are £18.50 (including a welcome sangria), and the evening starts at 8pm on Saturday, June 20th.

Axe Vale Festival's 21st anniversary

A number of craftsmen will be demonstrating their skills, many of them traditional, throughout the day and of course the day would not be complete without a visit to the mouth-watering food marguee!

The main arena is host to an exciting programme of events including displays by heavy horses, motorbikes and sidecars, gundogs and hawks. Children are well looked after too with lots of activities (and ice cream of course!) to make their day. So with everyone happy, you can rest and enjoy live music while you soak in the atmosphere of this great annual show.

The Axe Vale Festival takes place on June 20th and 21st at The Showground, Trafalgar Way, Axminster. Admission is £8.50 adults, under 16s £2, under 5s free. Historic Colyton prepares for a right-rebellious time COLYTON rebels are preparing for a momentous occasion on Saturday, 13th June, when scenes from the 1685 Monmouth Rebellion are re-enacted in the town.

The Taunton Garrison's famous Living History Camp will be set within St Andrew's Church grounds. Authentic period detail of life in camp can be experienced by visitors. Looking resplendent in King's Militia costumes, they will march through the town, round-up rebels for sentencing, and perform various military drills. They will also instruct children in pike drill and flag flourishing. Children can enjoy a hands-on experience of flag making at the Enna Wood Camp on Church Green.

During the day, Rebels and horsemen will re-enact the march when many Colyton men went to join the ill-fated Duke of Monmouth's army. The King's Militia will seek out and capture Rebels, followed by further drama when Judge Jeffreys arrives in town. The day will draw to a close with a costumed drumhead service in St Andrew's Church at 4.00pm.

A country market, Rebel Camp, wandering minstrels, and various attractions, will all make this an enjoyable day out for the family. Rebel Wood Fired Pizza, Hog Roasts, BBQs, Rebel Rouser Ale, Cider and afternoon teas will be available at Rebel Camp and around the town. The Honiton Tudor Dancers will be marking 30 years of performance by dancing in Market Place.

Seaton Tramway will join in on the 13th June in commemorating the 1685 Monmouth Rebellion with decorated rebel trams flying red & gold flags. Tram drivers will enter into the spirit of the day by wearing costume hats; it will be an exciting day for all. Why not ride the tram from Seaton to Colyton for a great start to the day's celebrations.

Munchkins Miniature Shetland Rescue, a newly registered charity, will have 2 ponies based at Colyton Tramway Station from 10.30am-4.30pm. Visitors will be able to meet the ponies at this time, and learn how they are rescued and offered a home for life

The day begins at 10.30am with the opening of the Country Market followed at 11am by the arrival of the Taunton Garrison as the King's Militia. Entry is free. Event car parking is £3 per car, to include a souvenir programme.

Axminster & District Choral Society to celebrate 30th anniversary

THE Axminster & District Choral Society celebrates its 30th Anniversary, with a light hearted summer concert at the Minster Church on Saturday, 20th June at 7.30pm.

Why not come and relax with fine music after a day at the Axe Vale Festival?

There will also be Sir George Shearing's setting of William Shakespeare's songs and sonnets with added imput from John Rutter. Other well-known short works will include Linden Lea by Ralph Vaughan Williams and the programme will end with "The Long Day Closes" by Arthur Sullivan.

The Choir is now half way through its Anniver sary year with a concert on Saturday, 21st Novem ber featuring Odes to St. Cecelia by both Hande and Purcell, very appropriate as it will indeed by St. Cecelia's Day. The year will close on Saturday 12th December in Chardstock Church, where Judy Martin will direct her very popular "Come and Sing Messiah", a day rehearsal open to all singer and then followed by a concert, also featuring solos by local artists.

Tickets, £15 and £12 are available from Archwa Books, Axminster, through the website www.axminsterchoral.co.uk or 01404 881838 Seating will be limited for the £15 seats so do bool early.

Gardens open in Kilmington for National Garden Scheme

ONCE again four gardens in Kilmington are happy to be supporting the wonderful work of the NGS who is one of the most significant charitable funders of nursing and caring in the UK.

The National Garden Scheme was founded in 1927 by the Queen's Nursing Institute to raise funds to support district nurses and in 1980 an independent charity was formed, the National Garden Scheme Charitable Trust which has continued ever since.

The gardens opening (mostly in Shute Road): are The Acorn, Breach (off Shute Road), Spinney Two and Lambley Brook, (Springhead Lane and near to Breach).

The all important 'tea and cake' aspect to garden visiting, provided by and with proceeds going to the St. Giles' Church can be enjoyed in relaxed surroundings at The Acorn where The Jurassic Coasters will be playing. Some disabled parking is available at The Acorn.

So, please come along and support us – we look forward to seeing you in the gardens, Saturday, June 13th or Sunday, June 14th (or both!) between 1.30 and 5.00pm. Tickets (available at the gardens) are £5, combined admission – children free, dogs welcome on short leads, plants for sale.

For more details visit www.ngs.org.uk (enter 'Kilmington' under garden name).

Farce on delivery from Axminster Drama Club

ERIC has a big secret to hide. Unfortunately, his wife, Linda, thinks he's hiding a very different secret. When once we practice to deceive...

It's a classic set up for an outrageously riotous farce which is the only way to describe Cash On Delivery. With a plot that twists and turns in ever spiraling contortions, a cast of colourful characters create a kaleidoscope of confusion. Misunderstandings and mistaken identities abound along with indecent behaviour, cross-dressing, men without trousers and people being knocked out by inanimate objects. Every ingredient of farce is here, including a few extra ones thrown into the recipe for good measure, including an out-of-control washing machine.

Written by Michael Cooney, son of that master of the art, Ray – and the apple clearly didn't fall far from the tree – this play is being performed by a talented cast from Axminster

Drama Club at The Guildhall on Thursday 18th, Friday 19th and Saturday, June 20th at 7.30pm. Tickets (£8 in advance, £10 on the door) are available from The Archway Bookshop in Church Street, Axminster or by telephoning 01404 831089.

BMW's compact Sports Activity Vehicle, the all new X1

MORE than 730,000 were sold globally of that first generation with nearly 40,000 new owners of X1 in the UK over the same period. Now an all-new BMW X1 has been unveiled and features dynamic BMW X styling, a sporting character blended with outstanding efficiency, and an array of innovative equipment features in comfort, safety and infotainment.

Featuring an all-new range of engines and gearboxes, not to mention the latest, ultra-efficient version of the xDrive all-wheel-drive system, the second generation of the BMW X1 exemplifies BMW's EfficientDynamics philosophy. At market launch, one petrol engine and three diesel options are offered.

Design: Commanding presence, robust proportions and dynamic lines

Robust proportions, sculpted surfaces and genre-specific design features clearly mark the X1 out as a member of the BMW X model family. The front is defined by the large, upright BMW kidney grille, three-section lower air intake and characteristic "four-eyed" look formed by the twin circular head lights and fog lamps. Standard specification for the new BMW X1 includes LED daytime driving lights and for xLine and M Sport models full-LED headlights for low and high beam. This is optional for Sport line models.

The new car has grown most notably in height compared to its predecessor (+53mm), which helps to create extra space in the interior. When viewed from the side, the window surfaces taper towards the rear creating a particularly dynamic impression. At the rear, the central section of the rear apron rises up significantly, mimicking the frontal styling. Customers can choose from two non-metallic and 11 metallic exterior paint finishes for their new BMW X1, while the Estoril Blue metallic shade is also offered exclusively for the M Sport model.

The versatility typical of this new BMW X model is expressed not only in the driving characteristics of the X1 on various types of terrain and the sporting exterior looks, but also in the way its interior can be used, with more space for passengers and luggage.

The counterpart was introduced alongside the photo card driving licence in 1998 to include details such as any endorsements and which category of vehicles you are entitled to drive. However this information will now be stored electronically and any updates will not be shown on any written documentation you will have. These details can only be obtained via the DVLA driver record system, and be checked online (reference 1) or in writing by post.

Local sport round-up

More success for in form Honiton

Centurions Hewer, Gibson and Hext lead the way with the willow with a full strength team Adam Holmes enjoyed early success removing both openers for 0 but this was tempered as Honiton lost keeper Kevin Slynn to a hamstring injury in the first over.

Harry Wright and Holmes continued to keep things tight and were backed up by good fielding.

Matt Rockett, dropped in his 30s, went on to make an excellent 91 and was the stand out batsman in Kilmington's total of 194 with Adam Culley making 31 and Kev Kelly picking up 3-20. After an excellent start Honiton felt they had let it slip in the 2nd half of the fielding display and knew they needed another strong start and they got it as Brian Cann and Kev Kelly (55) produced another brilliant opening stand of 121.

After Kelly departed Conway quickly followed as did Pullin. But Matravers and Cann got honiton within touching distance of victory when Cann departed for an important 75.

The honours were left to Matravers to hit a huge six over the clubhouse to clinch the win - Honiton's third in a row and an important 20 points against fellow promotion Skipper Rob Ingram said: "A great opening stand from Kev and Brian really set us up for victory chasing down a tricky total on a turning pitch.

"We still have to work on our fielding and need to improve that area next week against table-topping Whimple."

Honiton 2nd XI v Kenn 2nds XI

HONITON 2nd XI made it three wins on the trot with a comprehensive victory away

Batting first, and needing to recover from a position of 25-3, Honiton were indebted to Jon Hext who made a stylish unbeaten 118 in the visitors total of 262-7 with Richard Potter (35) and Phil Tansley (32) also chipping in.

Veteran Tansley was in action with the new ball too, applying pressure to finish with fine figures of 9-4-9-2.

With two superb run-outs effected by Tansley and Corey Lapping, the Honiton bowlers, with Richard Hill claiming 3 for 11, were able to mop up the tail to leave Captain Andrew Lapping is liking what his team are producing, he said: "This was a job well done on a very testing pitch, Jon's knock was top class then we backed that up in the field.

Record breakers! Otters hit 75

OTTERS made a strong statement of intent when they notched up a record 75 goals against newcomers Swagger Mamas.
The 75–44 win saw them move back into second place behind Uplowman. Otters grabbed the lead in the third quarter, and with Kirsty Trude playing well, notched up 21 goals in the final period.

Ainsley Joney had a good game for the Mamas.

It was that rare event in a handicap league with both teams starting on the same score, but this was the case when Tip Top Trees met Sidmouth Toucan's Old Birds.

The game started evenly but by the end of the third period 3Ts had opened a 48–37 lead which they extended to win by 57-44 thanks once again to fine work from Jess Jeffrey. Sarah Burston had a good

AXE CLIFF with Rob Grove

USUALLY a medal round holds fear and trepidation for most of the competitors but when it is the first round of four to count there seems to be more determination than ever to complete a score. The first round of the Senior Masters tournament which attracted a large number of participants proved to be a close affair but, with other scores to count, any one of the remaining competitors could yet lift this prestigious trophy.

As it was some of the more consistent golfers came out on top this week with Peter Knighting (15) scoring a commendable net 69.

He was closely followed by the reliable Tony Strong (7) with 70 and the evergreen Keith Wilson (13) also with

In very windy conditions there were some seemingly high scores but this competition brings out the best from those stubborn Senior golfers from Axe Cliff and their best is yet to come. Leaders beware.

There were four 2s recorded during the round by Roger Hill, Simon Wellington, Nick Stanton and Tony

In second place was Lady Vice Captain Su Calver with a net 74 followed by Heather Clarke in third place with a

In Bronze 1 Division, Chris Luttmann took the lead with a net 74. Gill Johnson was second with net 77 and Liz Wood came in third with a net 81.

The winner of the glass tankard was Roger Matthews who headed Division one with a net 68. Mike Stroud was runner-up on 73, on countback from Ted Chandler and Mike Watts.

Tony Williams took the last prize in that division. Bill Phillips won Division two with a net 73. Robert Canterbury was runner-up on 74, placed ahead of Bob Cockett and Peter Dart on countback off into the Wilds of Dartmoor for the aptly named DARTMOOR DISCOV-ERY ULTRA MARATHON.

Heading off out first along the hilly lanes was Bernie Genge adding to his growing achievements for the year in this 32-mile hilly road ultra runners. Next to parade the CRR's flag was Chris Wadey who, taking on the increasing heat of the day. put in a stern performance

Meanwhile, Wadey who taking on her 2second ultra marathon in Leading the way for CRR's was Wayne CRR's Loveridge who set off to challenge for the front of the pack and maintained good progress against such a strong field crossing the line in a class-leading 4/177.

Following in Wayne's footsteps was Martin Holley who having hot footed it from the School was not quite as prepared for the heat and strong field but still managed a 3rd in Cat finish providing CRR's with a small but strong finish at this local event.
